

Consumers with Public Records on Their TransUnion Credit Reports Could Be Affected by a Class Action Settlement

TransUnion agreed to settle litigation claiming it included inaccurate public records on its credit reports and failed to disclose the vendor from whom it obtained public record information. TransUnion denies that it did anything wrong.

Are you included?

You are included if you: (a) requested your TransUnion credit report between May 20, 2009 and March 23, 2018, and it included a public record (such as a bankruptcy, judgment, or tax lien); or (b) TransUnion sent your credit report to a third party between July 5, 2014 and March 23, 2018, and the report contained a tax lien or civil judgment that was inaccurate or did not belong to you.

What does the Settlement provide?

TransUnion will establish an Alternative Dispute Resolution Program (“ADR Program”) for consumers who were injured by a TransUnion credit report containing an inaccurate civil judgment or tax lien. If you are able to show you were injured, you can get an automatic payment of at least $1,500. TransUnion will also stop reporting civil judgments and tax liens for a period of time and will disclose its public records vendors.

How can I participate in the ADR Program?

The ADR Program will be available for 18 months after the effective date. Details will be posted on the Settlement website.

What are my rights?

This Settlement only releases the right to bring these claims on a class action basis. It will not impact individual claims. However, if you accept a payment in the ADR Program, you will release your individual claims as well. Even if you do nothing, you will be bound by the Court’s decisions. You may object to the Settlement by July 31, 2018.

The Court will hold a hearing on August 29, 2018 to consider whether to approve the Settlement and requested attorneys’ fees. You or your own lawyer may appear and speak at the hearing at your own expense.
